Enter here to increase in stature, knowledge, and wisdom.

Enter His gates with thanksgiving and into His courts with praise. Be thankful unto Him and bless his name.

Psalm 100:4

STUDENT LIFE

Blessed is the man who does not walk in the counsel of the wicked or stand in the way of sinners or sit in the seat of mockers. But his delight is in the law of the Lord, and on his law he meditates day and night. He is like a tree planted by streams of water, which yields its fruit in season and whose leaf does not wither. Whatever he does prospers.

Orientation

"I wish that camera person would just go away."

LT beau, Jeremy Baxter, assists with move-in.

The joys of freshman orientation; party at Dr. Todd's?

Andy Clark, John Dorrill and Bill Maner serve burgers at the Reservoir cook-out.

We're college students, but we still love the playground.

"Quick, look like you're having a good time!"

Moving in! Home sweet home for the next nine months.

Orientation is always an exciting part of starting college at MC. This year SGA Attorney John Dorrill was responsible for all orientation activities. "Orientation parents" helped acquaint incoming freshmen and transfer students with MC's campus and the surrounding area. Among the many activities planned were a business fair, cook-out at the Reservoir, Meet the Chocs, BSU's "Wrestle Mania," a picnic at Dr. Todd's house, a celebration at Clinton Armory and MC night with the Jackson Generals. A new addition this year was the "Freshman Experience" which took place every Friday morning for six weeks. By participating in these events, new students enjoyed a time of creating memories and lasting friendships.

Just think, these people are our future.

Are you sure the dorms are this way?

I Love America Day

It was that time of year again for Mississippi College to see red, white and blue. Monday, October 6, was the annual SGA sponsored "I Love America Day."

"This was a day that students were able to reflect on how blessed we are to live in a country where liberty and personal freedoms are valued," Olivia Taylor, one coordinator of the event, said.

Festivities began in chapel with the presentation of the American flag by color guard representatives from the National Guard. SGA vice president David Drobny led the service with the Pledge of Allegiance and Joy Youngblood sand the national anthem.

Featured speaker for the occasion was MC's own Vice President for Alumni and Student Affairs, Dr. Van Quick. Quick, a veteran of the National Guard, spoke in chapel for the first time in decades.

The next activity for students was lunch in the Quad from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. During this time span many activities happened. A group of second graders from Simpson Academy sang patriotic songs at noon. This, coupled with the red, white and blue hot-air balloon supplied by Remax and a visit by Uncle Sam himself, gave the essential patriotic feeling to the day.

Shortly after noon the featured speaker, Wayne Burks, Commissioner of the Mississippi Department of Transportation, spoke. The MC vocal and dance group, The Naturals, made their fall semester debut after the speaker at 12:30.

The evening brought the annual fireworks show and ice cream party. This event began at 8 p.m. MC Faculty and staff kept the tradition by serving the ice cream.

Students, faculty and staff were encouraged to join in and celebrate our country on "I Love America Day."

Rush

Parties and celebrations kicked off this year's rush, which started on September 11.

"Rush Hour Traffic," women's rush, attracted only 216 women. However, this is a larger number than the 195 women who participated in last year's rush.

The choice for the women's rush theme directly relates to the bustle of activity on campus this year.

"Things are moving and changing on this campus and we feel like rush is too," said Sunday Sones, president of Nenamoosha and Intertribal Council.

"All the tribes are really supporting each other and we had an incredible group of girls who are going through general rush. I'm really excited about it and I know everybody is going to have a great rush," said Kati Lane, Chairman for Rush and Service for Kissimee Social Tribe.

In order to accommodate the number of women's rushees, quotas for all four women's tribes have been raised from 100 to 140 members.

Despite high predictions for men's rush, only 74 signed up at the general rush meeting. Once the rush parties started, however, the number of men rushees increased to around 130, reported Derek Pouncey, president of Circle K. Approximately 100 men rushed last year.

Men reacted positively to rush. "They were pretty enthusiastic about what was going on," said Brandon Jones, president of ISEC and Civitan.

Coke parties that gave a chance for women to meet the four tribes were on September 16 and 18. Rush skits for women were held on September 26 and 27 in the fellowship hall of First Baptist Church of Clinton. Pref Day was October 2, and Squeal Night was October 9.

Rush parties for the men's clubs were September 15-18. Men's General Rush Pref Day was September 22 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and a pledging period followed. Men's rush ended the first week of November.

Squeal Night

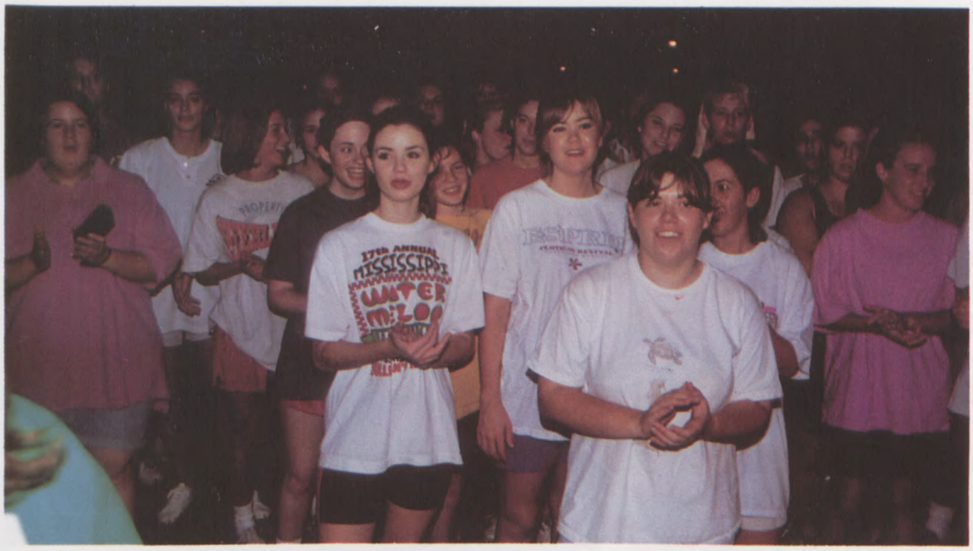

Squeal Night was once again a success. The fun began at 9 p.m. on Thursday, October 9. Each pledge waited anxiously in the dark for members from her tribe to invite her to join in the activities. When the social tribe members arrived chanting and beating on the doors, they gave the pledge a certain assignment. A typical task would be for the pledge to run screaming from her room to the tribe's meeting place. After a short meeting with the actives, pledges were "escorted" to the mud pit by the guys. After the fun in the mud, the pledges returned to their rooms to find many surprises left by their big sisses.

Follies

Follies were as entertaining as always this year. The action began at 6:30 p.m. On October 31 with Steven Mulhollen as the master of ceremonies. Each tribe and club that presented a skit used the basic theme of Homecoming, "A Mystery in the Making." The performances were judged and cash prizes were awarded to the top three winners. Jonathan Anglin's "Daphny's Little Ditty" took first place for Civitan; second place went to Nenamoosha's "The Red Panther" by Deanna Kuhn and Emily Smith; Rotaract took third place with Mark Ellis's "Rotaract Goes Psycho." This annual event marked the re-opening of newly renovated Swor Auditorium and proved to be a great success as the mysteries began to unfold.

Homecoming

Homecoming 1997, "A Mystery in the Making," proved to be an entertaining time for alumni, faculty and students. Emily Reid did a wonderful job as homecoming chairman. The week's activities were kicked off with Midnight Madness on the Monday students returned from Fall Break. Throughout the night, students won money, gift certificates, tuition hours and even TV sets. Scrimmages were played by members of MC's basketball teams. The night was a great time for all involved. Students enjoyed women's open dorms on Tuesday night. Wednesday night resulted in victory for Blue and Gold Men's Society at the traditional cheering contest at the pep rally. The Harry Barrett Jazz Combo band provided entertainment in the Rotunda for open dorms in the New Men's Residence Hall on Thursday night. Friday night was the annual Homecoming Follies; every skit performed was a hit with the crowd. The SGA midnight buffet took place after Follies in Jennings courtyard. Saturday's events began with the Homecoming parade at 2 p.m. The top three winners were Laguna, the Lab school float and Nenamoosha. "Spotlight at MC" featured the Naturals as well as the 1997 Homecoming Court. The Homecoming football game against Howard Payne University resulted in a 13-0 victory for the Choctaws. The final event of the week was the celebration at the Vicksburg Convention Center.

STUDENTS & PERSONNEL

A student is not above his teacher, nor a servant above his master. It is enough for the student to be like his teacher, and the servant like his master.

Matthew 10:24-25 NIV

If any of you lack wisdom, he should ask of God, who gives generously to all without finding fault, and it will be given to him.

James 1:5 NIV

Dedication

For more than one-hundred-and-fifty years, Mississippi College has been sustained by the dedication and devotion of its students, its faculty, and its staff. The character of this university reflects especially the character of those who love it most and serve it long and well. The 1998 Tribesman is dedicated to Dr. Edward Lee McMillan, Professor of History and Vice President of Graduate Affairs and Special Programs, and Dr. Richard Glen Eaves, Professor of History and Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, both of whom will be retiring at the end of May 1998.

Dr. McMillan and Dr. Eaves are both Christian gentlemen, leaders in the church, distinguished scholars, lively and entertaining lecturers, and talented university administrators. They have contributed in ways both great and small to the enrichment of the community of faith and learning that is Mississippi College. In May, they will be leaving their respective administrative offices, but both will continue what they love best, teaching their favorite history classes to the next generation of Mississippi College students.

Dr. Edward McMillan has been involved in Baptist higher education for more than fifty years, the last twenty-five in service to Mississippi College, where he took his BA in 1950. The next year, he received the MA from Ole Miss and began teaching at Wayland Baptist College in Texas, where he remained until 1961. Having completed his Ph.D. from Texas Technological University, Dr. Mac went to Louisiana College, where he served as professor, dean of the college for two years, and head of the history department from 1961 to 1973. Returning to his alma mater as chairman and professor of history, Dr. Mac added the duties of graduate dean in 1974. Two years later, while continuing as chair of the history department, he became vice president for graduate studies and special programs, where he has expanded and improved graduate and foreign studies programs and continuing education opportunities on and off campus. As the founder of the LC/MC London Semester in 1989, Dr. McMillan deserves the lion's share of the credit for the thriving foreign studies programs that are currently available to MC students. His many efforts on behalf of graduate education and continuing education have likewise garnered for him the admiration and respect of colleagues and students alike.

Dr. Mac has published widely for both the scholarly and popular press on a variety of historical and contemporary topics. His thoughtful insights have enlightened the general community as well as the college. He is well known for his tireless energy in administrative affairs, his love for teaching and for working with student organizations like ODK, and for his advocacy of foreign studies and travel. If there is a job that is important and has to be done just right, Dr. Mac is likely to get the call, whether it is a SACS Self-Study or landscaping project for the campus. Ask the students and professors, and they will tell you straight and true. Everywhere you look, there is much of Dr. Mac in Mississippi College, from its flower gardens to its fine graduate programs. Even though he will be retiring as vice president, Dr. Mac will be back in the classroom, no doubt maintaining his well-known reputation as the most popular American history professor at Mississippi College.

Dr. Edward Lee McMillan

Dr. Richard Glen Eaves

Dedication

Also retiring in May after sixteen years of loyal service to Mississippi College is Dean Richard Glen Eaves. Dean Eaves has enjoyed a varied and distinguished career in university teaching and administration. Taking his BS from Mississippi State in 1953, Dr. Eaves entered the U.S. Army and served in Korea and Japan. After military service, he took the MA in educational administration from George Peabody College and MA in history from Mississippi State. Between 1958 and 1962, he taught and served as dean of men at Clarke College in Newton, MS. In 1966, he took his Ph.D. in European history from the University of Alabama. In 1966, he joined the history department at Auburn University, where he served for the next sixteen years. In 1982, Dr. Eaves became professor of history and the first Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Mississippi College.

Dr. Eaves is a prolific scholar, with dozens of articles and two books to his credit, most of which deal with various aspects of Tudor-Stuart England. A popular lecture, Dr. Eaves knows how to bring European history to life, whether he is talking about the last years of the Romanov dynasty in Russia or the suffering of Christian martyrs being "burnt to a crisp" during the religious persecutions of the Protestant Reformation. A leader in student retention on campus, he has led the freshman advising program and chaired the developmental skills committee as well as directed the 1991 SACS Self-Study. During his tenure as dean, the College of Arts and Sciences has truly blossomed. Six new undergraduate degree programs have been added, along with five graduate degree programs, five endowed lectureships, two endowed professorships, and an endowed fund for faculty development in arts and sciences. While leaving the deanship, Dr. Eaves will continue to entertain and instruct with his lively classroom lectures.

Edward McMillan and Glen Eaves are two very important reasons why Mississippi College is such a beloved university. They are great and good men who have served us all well. Their commitment to good teaching and student learning is truly the stuff from which legends are made. Theirs has been a labor of love, and our lives and the lives of countless other students have been richly blessed by them.

In Memory Of

On October 1, 1997 tragedy struch the MC campus as students and faculty learned of the death John Shakelford. The feelings were best captured in the words of John Tingle:

The past 72 hours have proven to be the longest and most trying days of my entire life. My heart and soul are bleeding, and my body is numb with confusion and disbelief. Most of my friends and I are surviving on a healthy diet of sleep deprivation laced with overwhelming sadness. Today, we --friends and family-- congregated to pay final tribute and say goodbye as John Shackelford was laid to rest beneath a blue sky and a sparkling Mississippi sun. With this culmination, we are left to face the tragic reality of having lost a cherished soul from our world.

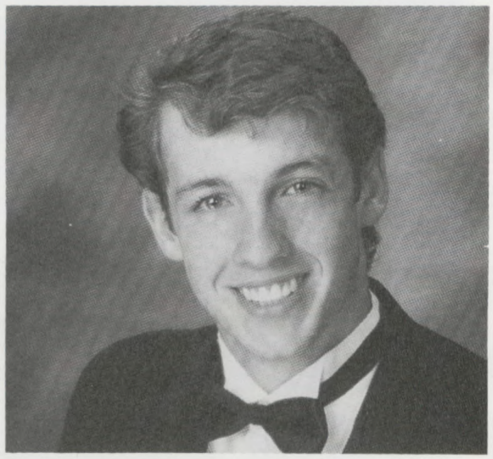

In the past, I can recall myself pondering how I would react to a situation such as this and how it would affect me. Now I am facing it as if it were glaring back at me from a shattered mirror, and I would give anything to wake up tomorrow without knowing what this is like. Not one of us were prepared for what greeted us the other morning, and there is no possible way to ever be ready for such extremely horrifying news. Wednesday, October 1, will be ever etched in our memories as we travel down life's path... and it should be. Our worlds came crashing down around us as we awoke to the fact that another world --one we deeply cherished-- had been wiped away from our everyday existence.

I was not as close to Shack as some -- closer than many, however-- but I cannot remember a time in my life where I was physically, mentally and emotionally brought to my knees with such blistering force. The only solace I find is leaning on other friends who are still enduring the same pain and stress. On Wednesday, my mind began racing for thoughts and memories of Shack --something that could soothe my soul and relieve the heartache around me. Almost immediately, a small list of events bolted through my mind.

The one thing that will always stand out so brilliantly to me is the way Shack carried himself. The first time I ever laid eyes on him was in the Fall of 1996. He bounced about with the cocky strut and swagger of any other freshman football player. However, what separated him from most was the ever-present smile that beamed as brightly as any I had ever seen. I did not actually meet him until January 1997 when he decided to rush The Blue and Gold Men's Society, of which I was the president. My opinion of him had been altered only slightly, but that would soon change.

One night, he emerged from the darkness outside of Ratliff Hall and approached me for my signature for his pledge notebook. I asked him to sit down for a moment, and in order to escape the crowd, we sat and talked on the second floor stairs for around twenty minutes. It was here that I began to see Shack as the funny, likeable young man he truly was. There was something about this guy that would simply not tolerate disliking him. He asked questions about the club's origin and of my hometown and history; I asked the same of him. We shook hands, and he left, strutting and smiling without a worry.

Months later, he stood alongside his ten pledge brothers as they prepared to recite the oath of membership. I recall Shack standing at the center of the semi-circle with his BGMS "big brother," Mac May, directly behind him. Shack was part of the first pledge class in the history of BGMS, and the charter members had struggled in their efforts to design a rush that would be beneficial to pledges and the club as a whole. As I read the oath, I myself was still unsure of our success. However, after the pledges' recitation and subsequent initiation into active membership, they began shouting, clapping and embracing one another. Plucking through all the chaos was the glowing grin and unmistakable laugh of John Shackelford. Many of us did not think he would stick it out, but he did. Our club, but even more our lives, were made better.

John Shakelford
1977-1997

As president, I did not receive a "little brother," but upon the pledge initiation, I felt as though I had ten little brothers in BGMS. I could live a hundred more years and never cherish a pledge group the way I do these guys. They are like younger members of the family. Now one of them is forever gone, and these rambling memories are what remain. With the funeral came a sense of closure to a heart tearing these three days. We are now left to face our fearful surrounding without Shack and his antics at our side. Many of us have truly been awakened to the reality of life. Life is harsh, confusing and sad. This is reality. John Shackelford has also shown us that life can be short, but it can be lived in a way where everyone that knows you will deeply love you. This is also reality. I am quickly becoming aware of my life and those around me. I am realizing how much I take for granted this world and how our days can flash like a bolt of lightning. Tomorrow never knows.

I can speak only for the group I am a part of. The Blue and Gold Men's Society has been in existence for about a year and a half. Through this time, we have been intently searching for what has always eluded our grasp... a true sense of meaning and purpose. None of us could ever honestly provide a true answer to the question: "What does it mean to be a Blue and Gold?" Although words fail and language simply cannot create feelings and emotions because they are not to be read or spoken, I will try to convey one heart-felt belief of one group of people of which Shack was a key element. We have clawed through the surface and uncovered something that reaches far beyond a brotherhood. Through these recent events, God has enlightened us to a sacrifice, honor, loyalty, and mostly a love for each other and our lives together. The punishing fact that John Shackelford is no longer physically a part of us rips me into shreds of confusion and anger. Had it not been for Blue and Gold, I never would have known Shack. I can only rest with the belief that his spirit will always draw us together and forever abide among us.

I am a Christian who believes that God has a plan for us all. I also belief that God has placed us on this earth to carry out and live our own lives while looking to Him for guidance. This ordeal has tarnished my heart and soul, but my faith remains as strong as ever. I rest comfortably knowing that I --as will many others-- will emerge from this a better person. At least this is my constant prayer to God. Hopefully, the remaining days of my life will prove worthy, and I will one day see Shack again.

The last time I saw John Shackelford was Tuesday while we were taking our Sports Nutrition exam. He finished before I did. As he was leaving the room, he flashed that quick grin... laughed softly... flicked a wave.. and said, "See ya, Tingle." He walked out of the room just as he walked into our lives... smiling and free of care. He would want all of us to do the same... smile, forget about it and move on. It will not be easy, but we can all do it. We must do it. And we will do it. Please pray for the Shackelford family and each other.
Remember JHS 108.
Thanks,
John Tingle

THE MISSISSIPPI COLLEGIAN

By ROBBY REPORTER
Collegian Staff Writer

This year, The Mississippi Collegian, campus newspaper for Mississippi College, provided accurate and helpful news to the college community.

Covering such exciting MC developments as the opening of the Baptist Healthplex (Mississippi Athletic Club), renovations in Alumni Hall and Swor Auditorium and the new Food Court in the B.C. Rogers Student Center.

This year marked the move of Choctaw athletics to Division III of the American Southwest Conference. In this exciting move, several of the teams placed first in the conference.

It was an exciting year for the women of MC as well. Chrestman dormitory became a female residence hall for the first time. The New Men's Residence Hall opened its lobby doors to female visitors. Also, the tribal system experienced the move from 100 member quotas to 140 members along side the debut of a new tribe, Laomosco (The Ladies of Mississippi College).

Throughout it all, the Collegian was there providing the MC community with vital news as well as spotlighting faculty, students and campus events. It also served as a great source of Public Service Announcements.

Donna Blackwell (Business Manager), Joy Merriman (Staff Writer), Juliana Wise (Editor), and Mary Beth Evans (Assistant Editor).

Collegian staff enjoys a well-deserved, stress-free night on the town.

Juliana views the ideas that On-line Editor Nelson McWhorter had for the Collegian On-Line.

Staffers Ryan Kyzar and Donna Blackwell enjoy a good spoonful of food during an "unofficial staff meeting."

Editor's Corner

It has been a great year for the Collegian and a great year for me. I want to thank all the people that have helped this little biology major put out a pretty good paper.

Thanks to all the staff writers and journalism students that wrote stories worthy of printing. If it weren't for you there would not be much to read.

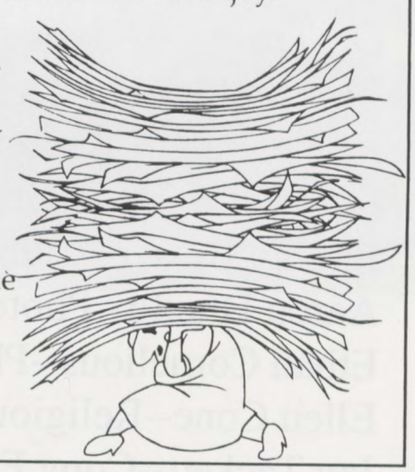

Thanks to my editorial staff: Marsha Burnham, Derek Pouncey and Mary Beth Evans. Last year I didn't think I would ever find a staff!

For all the "non-writing" jobs, I have to thank Jennifer Breland, Nelson McWhorter, Aaron Draxlir, Donna Blackwell and Carrie Garner. Without you I would not have as much free time to enjoy!

Our sponsor, Pepper Smith, was wonderful. I want to give another special thanks to Mary Beth. I would have gone bonkers without you!

Thanks for reading the paper everybody!

President Brett Causey and Grant Stegall were just two of the many people who planned activities throughout the year, including Tuesday night Gathering. The Leadership Team, with the help of other students, welcomed everyone back to school with Wrestlemania. The Leadership Team consists of Christy Jones, Lisa Dawkins, Jessica Graham, Kim Yarbrough, Joy Merriman, Gabriela Poenar, Elizabeth Carter, Carly Schoggen, Robin Dean, David Horner, Rohan Crown, Andy Stoddard, Will Reedy, Clay Stegall, Grant Stegall, Brett Causey, Adam Murray, John Dorrill, Stephen Smith, and Jeff Powell. The Executive Council of the Leadership Team is Stephen Smith, Jeff Powell, Brett Causey, Jennifer Brown, Lisa Dawkins, Robby Grames, and Rohan Crown. Finally, the BSU office could not run without Mrs. Brenda Holloway.

Transfer Council: Will Reedy, Jennifer Wilson, Casey Selph, Tracie Lott, Stephanie Sullivan, Jennifer Herrington, Hayley Wolfe, Andy Stoddard, Carrie Buckley, Sara Rogers, Jessica Graham, Holly Smith, Christy Phillips, Liza Buckley, Dara Callendar, Clay Stegall, Rosalyn Gardner, Heather Byrd, Robby Plemons, Susan Roney, Rebecca Barnett, Anna Griffin, Jennifer Sharpe, Rohan Crown, Dana Dykes, Cory Cartwright, and Randall Hutchinson.

A new ministry this year was to International Students. The following enjoyed a party at Jeff Powell's home: David van Balen — Venezuela, Lucito Lopez — Philippines, Sasha Mozuliova — Krygystan, Jinie Choi — South Korea, Gabriela Poenar — Romania, Flavien Canovas — France, Valeria Li — Uzbekistan, Frederick Vean — France, Gregory Pavlou — Greece, Rohan Crown — Australia, Aaron Draxlir — Canada, Eric Sager — Germany, Burkhard Thies — Germany, and Olivier Muller — France.

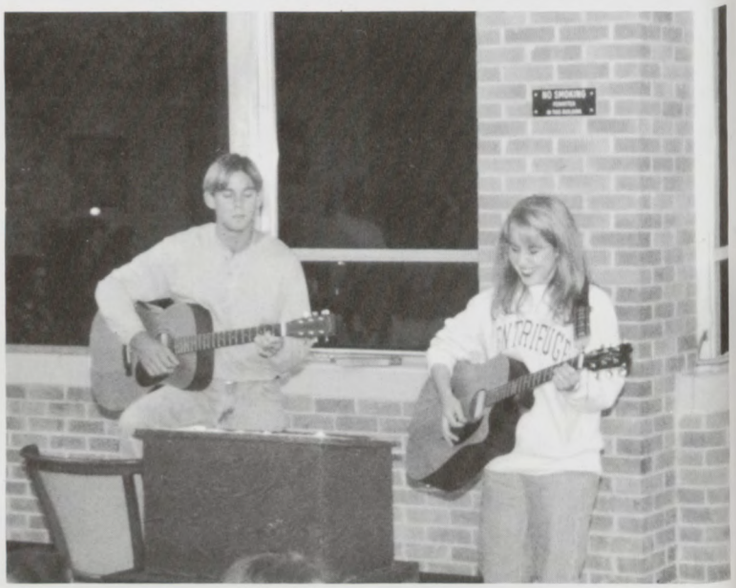

This year in BSU, Adopted sang at many different places including the Freshmen Retreat and Priority enjoyed their mission trip during Christmas Break. Many BSU members raised money for the Walk for Missions at Choctaw Trails in October. The freshmen started their year with the Freshmen Retreat and in December, prepared the Exam Survival Kits. There is always something happening in BSU!!!

Editor's Page

This has been one hectic year!! Somehow I pulled through it. Being my first year as editor, I had to rely on many people for help and guidance in preparing this year's yearbook. I hope that we have been able to capture some of your favorite moments and put them on paper giving you something to look back on and laugh or maybe even cry.

There are many people that I must thank. First of all, I must thank the members of my staff. Each did his/her part; sometimes under some tough conditions. My assistant editor, Mac McKeigney did a great job on the division pages and the cover artwork, along with Rodney Markos. Good job guys!! Lori Cockrell did a wonderful job on classes. There would be no club pictures had it not been for Jaime Knight and Jeremy Baxter. Cindy Forman did a great job working on student offices and simply finding everyone!! Ellen Cone and Jennifer Chow came through for me on the religious groups, and Brandy Boyd made sure performing arts received their recognition! Jason Knight did a great job on MC sports! Jan Tackett made sure the Senior biographies were just right, and did a great job typing the copy. Oh, and she also did a good job listening to me complain a "few" times when I was ready to pull my hair out!! Thanks, Jan! Oh, and probably two of the hardest working members of my staff: the photographers. Ethan Cornelius and Aaron Draxlir did a great job taking pictures for everything!!! Thanks a million guys!!

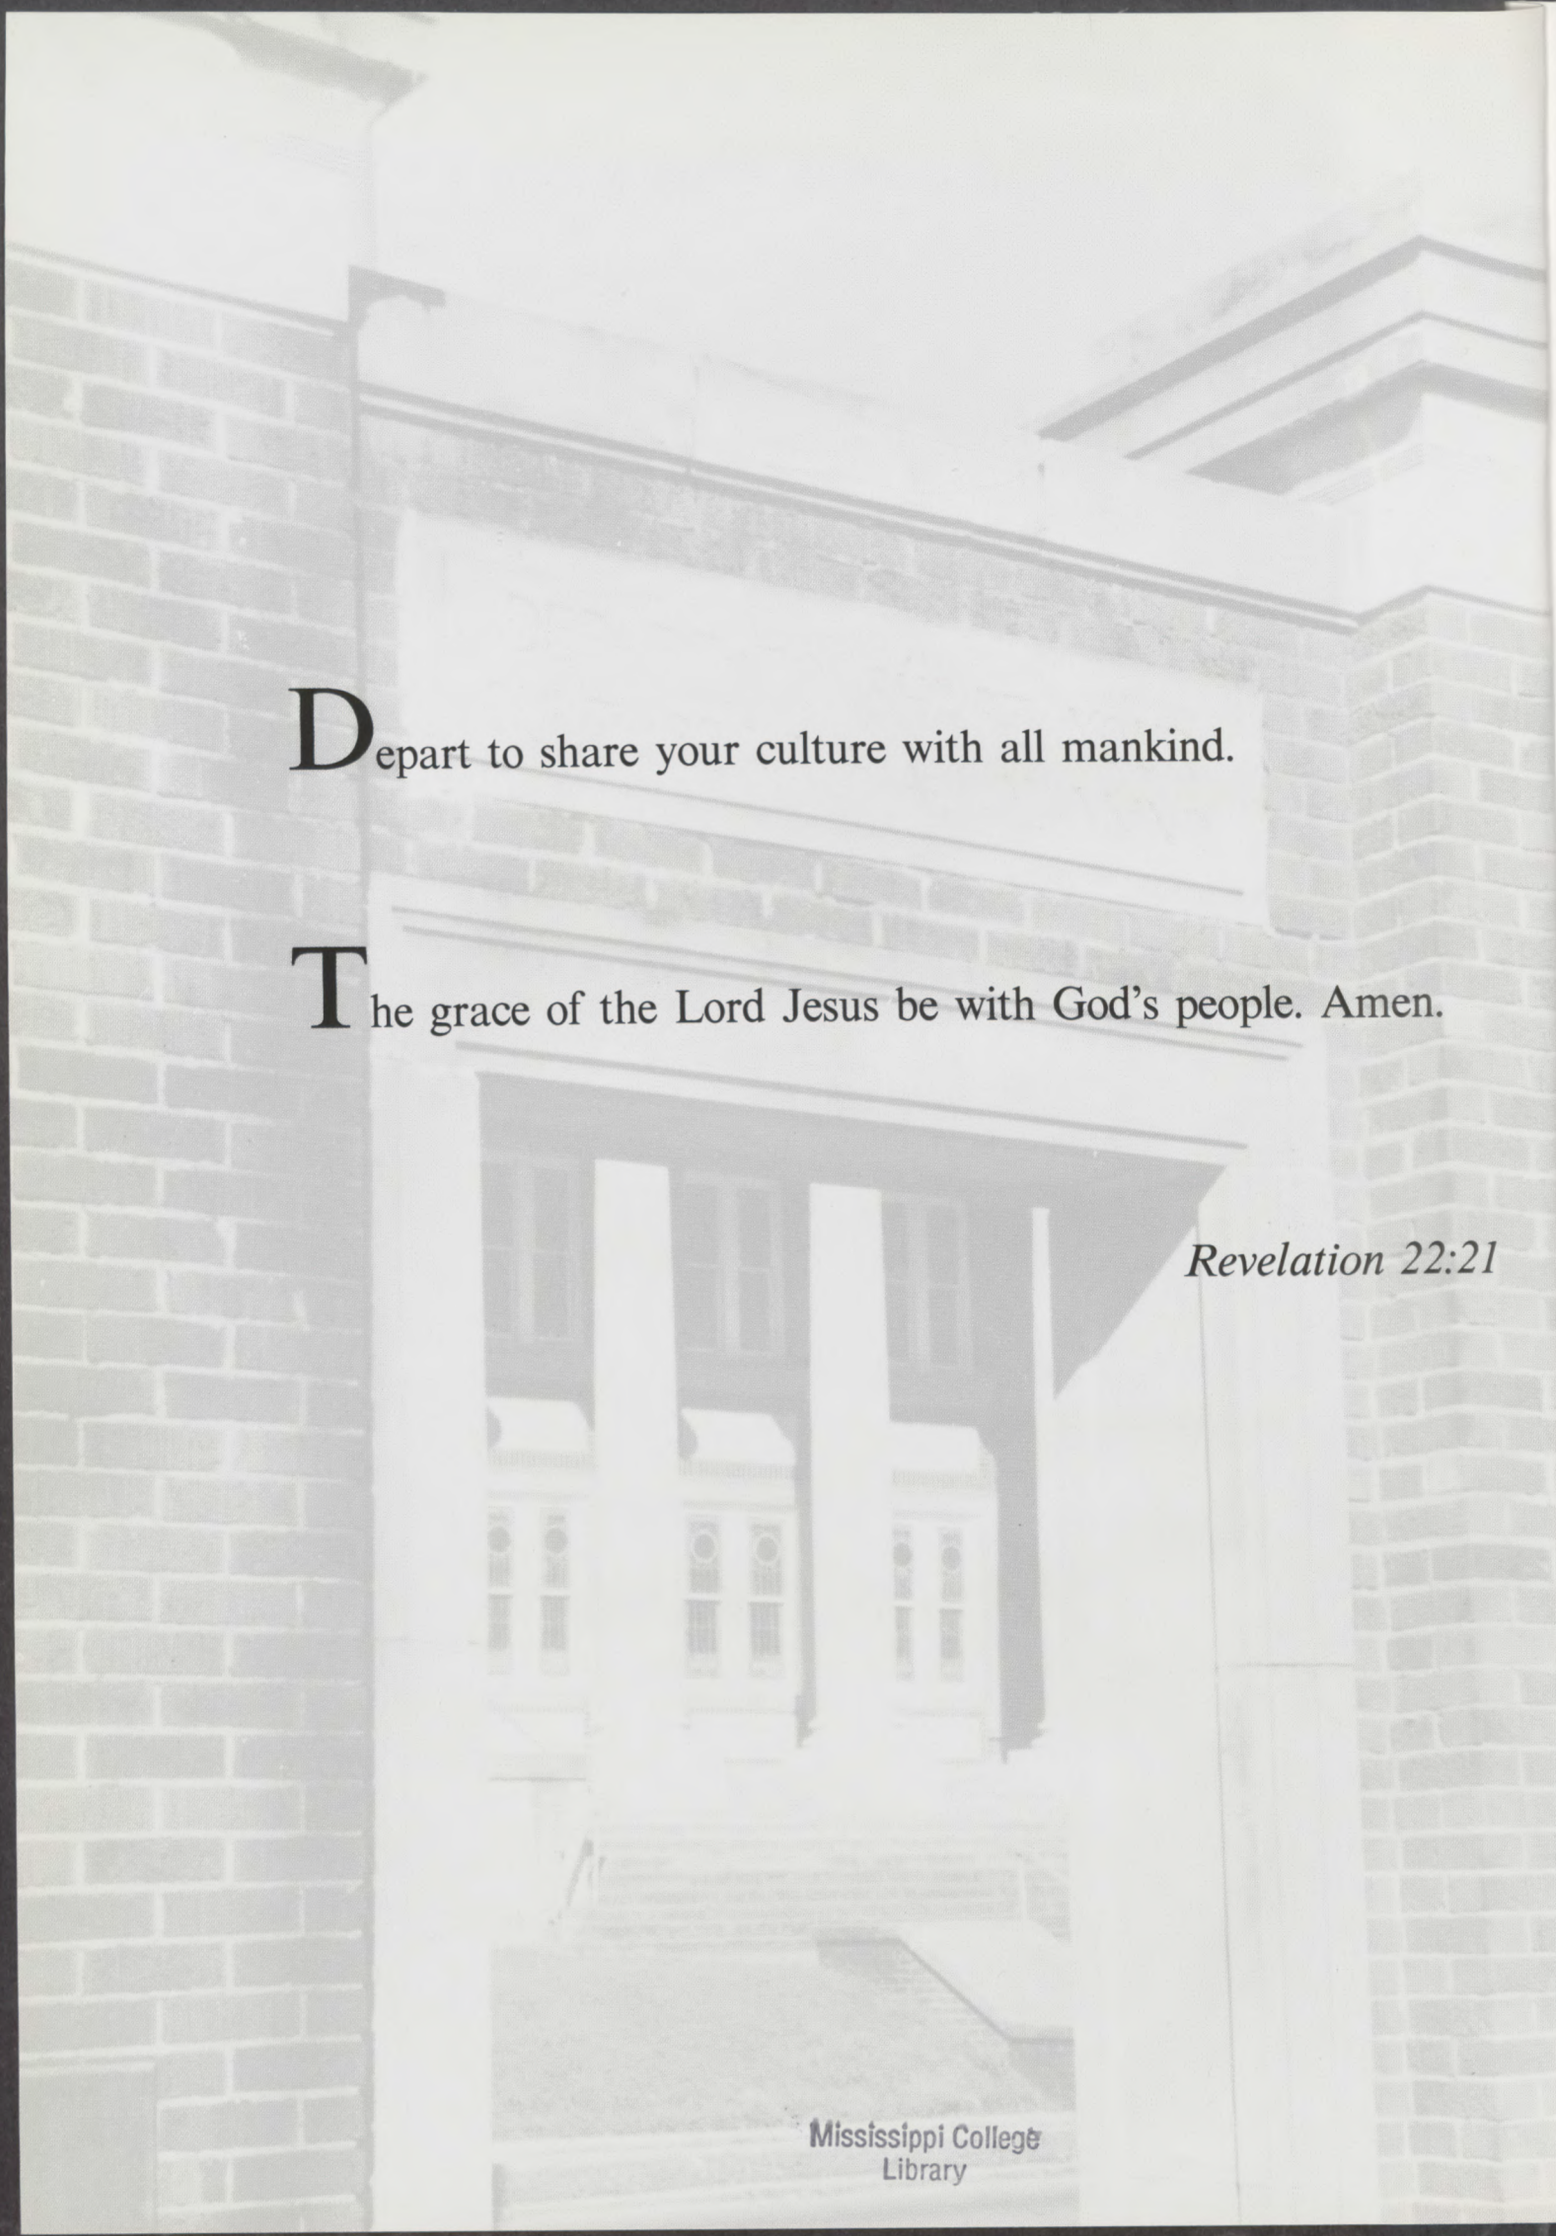

There were many people outside my staff who also played an important role in putting everything together. Dr. Travers was a wonderful advisor, and helped in every way possible. Mr. Cook provided help in advertising picture dates, and making flyers. Thanks Mr. Cook. Dr. Todd also helped a great deal. I appreciate all his support and encouragement he gave this year!! Others who helped include: Dean Washburn, Dean Hand, Doc Quick, Dr. Coward, all the people in the printshop, and the MC post office, the list could go on forever! If I left any one out, it is by accident only. I am truly grateful for everyone's helping hand, kind words, and simply the offers to help! It makes the job a lot easier knowing everyone is behind you and so willing to help.

It has been a great year, and I hope that we, the Tribesman staff, have been able to produce a book that each student and faculty member can be proud of. I also hope everyone enjoys this yearbook as much as I enjoyed playing my part in bringing it to you.
